BRITISH SAAR COMMISSIONER DENOUNCED AS INTOLERABLE

FRENCH CABINET ADOPTS PREMIER'S REFORM SCHEME IMMEDIATE CRISIS AVERTED

RATIFICATION NEEDED

Paris, Yesterday.
The Cabinet to-day adopted, by a majority after a short debate, M. Gaston Doumergue's proposals for French constitutional reforms. The Radical ministers reserved their attitude as regards the question of the dissolution of the Chamber.

An immediate crisis is thus averted, but it may occur later through the Radicals opposing or abstaining during the meeting of the National Assembly consisting of both Houses which will be summoned to ratify the proposals.

It is understood that M. Doumergue's proposals are as follows:
Firstly, to limit the number of Ministers to 20 including the Premier.

Secondly, to permit the President to dissolve the Chamber as follows—during the first year it can only be dissolved with the approval of the Senate; during the succeeding years the Senate's consent is not required.

Thirdly, to guarantee Civil Servants their jobs in order to prevent arbitrary dismissals.

Fourthly, that the Government alone has the right to introduce proposals involving expenditure, except by the vote of both Houses.—Reuter.

SECRETARY'S DENIAL

Shanghai, Yesterday.
Mr. Julian Piggot, Secretary of the Federation of British Industries' Mission, told Reuter, prior to his departure for England, that he was able to state definitely that at no time, either in Japan or the three eastern provinces, did the Chairman, Lord Barnby, make a single political utterance. He neither mentioned recognition of the so-called Manchukuo nor the revival of the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

Any reports to the contrary are absolutely false, Mr. Piggot added.—Reuter.

CHIANG KAI-SHEK AT KALGAN

May Visit Shansi And Suiyuan

Poiping, Yesterday.
Marshal Chiang Kai-shek left by train for Kalgan at 1.55 p.m. to-day, accompanied by Madame Chiang Kai-shek, his advisor, Mr. W. H. Donald, Chinese staff, and General Sung Chieh-yuan, Governor of Suiyuan.

After a brief stay at Kalgan to inspect local conditions, the Generalissimo will proceed to Suiyuan for the same purpose.
From Suiyuan it is considered probable that he will proceed by plane to Shansi province, where it is thought likely he will see General Yen Hsi-shen.—Reuter.

TYPHOON WARNING

The position of the typhoon, as reported by the Royal Observatory last night, was about 100 miles to the east of Hilo, 900 miles to the south-east of the Colony, moving west-north-west.

Bobby Edwards, the defendant in the Freda McKechnie murder case at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., smilingly lights up as he leaves court for gaol. He was later sentenced to the electric chair.

THE NAVAL TALKS

PRIVATE SESSION TO-MORROW

London, Yesterday.
The next step in the naval talks will be a private meeting between the British Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, and Mr. Tanaka Matsudaira, Japanese Ambassador to London, probably on Monday. The talks, at present, are confined to such private meetings between the heads of the delegations, and are the result of the desire to indulge "in diplomatic explorations" in which they can search for some measure of agreement on which to base further technical discussions. It is explained that until there can be some agreement on the principles involved, there is little use the Navy experts joining the discussions.—Reuter.

Powers Appraised

London, Earlier.
No naval developments are expected over the week-end. Yesterday, the British informed the French and Italian Embassies of the course of the naval discussions, which does not imply that France and Italy are joining the talks, but is merely the pursuance of normal procedure whereby they kept informed.—Reuter.

DR. SUN YAT-SEN'S BIRTHDAY

No Holiday Planned

Canton, Yesterday.
November 12 will be the 68th anniversary of the birth of late Dr. Sun Yat-sen. The Southwest Executive Committee of Kuomintang ordered the Provincial and City Tanspu yesterday to jointly hold a service for commemoration. As is announced, there will be no holiday on that day.—Central Press.

LIFT OPERATORS' VICTORY

Lightning Strike In
New York

New York, Yesterday.
The strike of lift operators which to-day paralysed work in 250 buildings, has ended in victory for the claims of the Unionists.
The Union threatened to extend the strike to all hotels, flats and office buildings throughout the city unless the demands for better wages were granted.—Reuter.

CANTON REINFORCEMENTS

(From Our Own Correspondent)
Canton, Yesterday.

Aerial bombardments on the Communists in the outskirts of Chengkow, in North Kwangtung, last night prevented the invaders from occupying the border town, while nine battalions of Government troops to-day moved up from Shaokwan to the Hunan border to strengthen the Cantonese position.

There was some fighting between the Communists and Cantonese troops last night along the Southern Hunan front, but details are not yet available.

Lieut-General Miao Pei-nan, Chief-of-Staff of the First Group Army, and Lieut-General Li Han-yun, Officer Commanding the Third Independent Division, returned here to-day from the front to report on the fighting there and to seek fresh instructions.

Every south-bound train on the Canton-Hankow Railway from Lohchang and Shaokwan is full of passengers, evacuating the threatened area. The Communists are reported to have captured four counties in south-eastern Hunan, although their final destination is Szechuen.

All goods traffic between Canton and Northern Kwangtung has been suspended.

ROWING CLASSIC IN MELBOURNE

Victoria London Eight Triumph

Healey-on-Yarra, Yesterday.
The Victoria London Rowing Club eight to-day won the Grand Challenge Cup, defeating the New Zealanders in the final by four lengths in 4 minutes 37 seconds, a second outside the course record.

The race was held in connection with the Melbourne Centenary celebrations and H.R.H. the Duke of Gloucester attended.—Reuter.

WEATHER FORECAST

Fine weather, with moderate north-east winds, was the forecast for to-day, as issued by the Royal Observatory last night.

French Sailors Resist Arrest

It appears that the three sailors took sedan-chairs from the bottom of Battery Path to the Peak Tramway Terminal at Garden Road, and tendered a $5 note to the chair-men, who, not being able to change, it, refused the note.
Taking this as an insult, one of the sailors is alleged to have struck a coolie, who immediately summoned the aid of a European Police Sergeant.
Sergeant McCarthy who happened to be on patrol duty, was quickly on the scene, but being unable to make himself understood, conducted the three men by means of signs, towards the Central Police Station via Battery Path.
At the junction of Battery path and Queen's Road, the sailors showed fight and Sergeant McCarthy experienced a trying time.
Eventually aid came from Central Headquarters and the three sailors were taken to the lock-up.

This photograph shows a wrecked train and power lines on an express railway line near Tsurubashi, a suburban station of Osaka, Japan, which were damaged in the recent terrific typhoon which swept over Japan, leaving in its wake a heavy loss of life and property.

New York, Yesterday.

A resolution recommending to the Government, "inter alia," a permanent return to a fixed gold dollar, preferably in conjunction with Britain and other countries, was yesterday passed by the National Foreign Trade Convention, the delegates to which include many prominent business men.

$5 BETTING REVIVAL GREETED WITH ACCLAMATION

Improved Pool Figures

The Jockey Club's return to $5 betting was heralded with acclamation by punters yesterday at the Valley, as the following pool figures for the eight races will prove beyond any shadow of a doubt:

	Win	Place
September 22	$53,975	$54,820
Last Meeting	$45,400	$40,738
Yesterday	$57,155	$71,640

The September 22 Meeting was the last $5 meeting prior to the $2 innovation, which was abolished following the last meeting.
The "daily double" figure, still at $2, showed an increase of $400 yesterday on that of the last meeting.

"POWERFUL MAGAZINE

IRRESPONSIBLE HEAD

SAARBRUECKEN, YESTERDAY.

HERR PIROW, LEADER OF THE GERMAN FRONT, HAS OFFERED REWARDS OF 1,000 FRANCS TO MEMBERS OF THE PARTY WHO DENOUNCE SO-CALLED TERRORISTS. HERR PIROW ACCUSES GERMAN EMIGRES FROM THE REICH AS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE TROUBLES IN THE SAAR AND SAYS "THAT THE SITUATION IS BECOMING SERIOUS THROUGH THE RECKLESS MACHINATIONS OF OUR 'ENEMY'."

He enjoins supporters to observe the strictest discipline.

The Frankfurt journal, "Volksblatt," violently attacks the British Commissioner, Mr. Geoffrey Knox, as a disturber of the peace. It declares that Mr. Knox is playing with matches on a powerful magazine.

"IT IS INTOLERABLE THAT SUCH A MAN SHOULD REMAIN RESPONSIBLE FOR THE WELFARE OF EUROPE," THE PAPER STATES.

HAGUE COURT RULING NOT SOUGHT

Germany Not To Appeal
On Saar Dispute

Berlin, Yesterday.

It is officially stated that the German Government has no intention of appealing to the Hague Court in connection with the French army manoeuvres outside the Saar territory.

It is claimed that the order for restraint, issued by Hitler's Saar Plenipotentiary, Herr Buerckel, to uniformed Nazis, has created an unambiguous and clear situation which must dissipate all mistrust in official French circles as regards Germany's attitude.

It is stated that France should consequently withdraw her emigrant agitators from the Saar as well as her troops from the Saar frontier, and also do everything to prevent untoward incidents.—Reuter.

Intended Appeal Made Known

Berlin, Earlier.

It is rumoured that Germany intends to appeal to the Hague Court in connection with the French military preparations against eventualities in the Saar Basin. Official circles, however, refuse to confirm or deny the report.—Reuter.

Herr Adolf Hitler's Saar plenipotentiary, Herr Buerckel, has issued an order forbidding Nazi troops to appear in uniform or hold meetings or parades within 25 miles of the Saar frontier from January 10 to February 10, 1935. He states, threatens military occupation of the Saar.

Reports are spreading of the impending invasion of the Saar by Nazi troops. Herr Buerckel protests against these "most false allegations" and appeals to the Nazi troops, for the sake of European peace, to show still greater discipline and show the world unjustified intentions of the French.

UNFAVOURABLE EXCHANGE

Berlin, Yesterday.
The inability, owing to the unfavourable exchange position, to make cash payments to holders of coupons maturing between July, 1934, June 30, 1935, has been announced by the Reichsbank, thereby exercising the right reserved at the transfer conference at the end of last May to withdraw the offer of a 40 per cent cash payment on the face value of the funding bonds issued for coupons maturing during the year ending September 30, 1935.
The suspension of cash payments applies only to long and medium term debts. The Dawes and Young loans are not affected.—Reuter.

THE LADY FROM FIJI

By JASPAR POWER

SIDE-stepping an omnibus with the graceful precision of a matador, Mr. Pycraft sprang from the refuge to refuge and gained the spacious security of Trafalgar Square. Although a Civil Servant, he never availed himself of subways when crossing a street, rightly regarding such subterranean subterfuges as un-English and effeminate.

A great reader, Mr. Pycraft was deeply versed in the theory of lion slaughter. The fact that one told all day in a swivel chair made it a duty to maintain the balance by a proportionate broadening of the mind. And what better for the purpose than selections from the plethora of travel and adventure books; red-blooded, two-fluted works often attractively bound and lavishly illustrated?

It was thus vicariously, then, that Mr. Pycraft knew more about harpooning whales, smuggling opium, and the more questionable activities of Burmese dacoits than many followers of those exclusive professions themselves. This deep understanding of far-off primitive peoples accounted for his presence in Trafalgar Square—he was lool-ling for a female South Sea Islander.

For many years he had noticed her sitting in the same spot, a wooden bench in the north-west corner, eternally puffing at untidy cigarettes patiently reconstructed from heterogeneous gleanings. Rather middle-aged Polynesian she was, with chocolate skin, and eyes lustrous as any in Madrid or Whitechapel; her head was fuzzy, but uninked. Beside her lay her lures and penates, stuffed in a bass bag designed to veil the nakedness of some far-off Christmas turkey.

A human document, Mr. Pycraft had said to himself each time he passed the dark unknown, in winter when his ears shrank into the protection of up-turned collar, and on the rare, hot days when he would have liked to discard his waistcoat. Mark my words, a human document. Indeed, he had even mentioned this theory to his Chief that very afternoon, as the pair strolled across the Horse Guards on their way from Whitehall.

"Well, Pycraft, why the devil don't you ask the woman?" the Chief had demanded irritably. He wanted to watch the senilities with their swords and shining breast-plates, but feared that such provincialism might appear childish in the eyes of his sub-ordinate. Realising that the die was cast, and fortified by this semi-official blessing on his now burning curiosity, Mr. Pycraft had at last reached sticking point. He surveyed the Square expectantly.

The place was much as usual. Instead of improving their minds in free museums and picture galleries, the down and out-lounged in the sun. The same greedy pigeons wobbled awkwardly on the pudgy fists of infants, stuffing their crops with yet another twopence worth of maize. From time to time the shattering backfire of a London Transport bus sent them wheeling in orderly formation round and round the lofty pillar. Foreigners in berets jabbered, clicked cameras, and squeaked about in yellow boots. Landseer's Hons-smiled like vacuous vegetarians.

Smoking as always, the Polynesian occupied the corner of her usual bench. Hoping that none of his clerks were in the office, Mr. Pycraft sat down beside her. His neat pigskin portfolio lay on the seat between them, perhaps as a bulwark. Like Caesar's wife, Government servants must avoid even the appearance of evil.

The South Sea Islander ignored him. Leaning back, she stared unwaveringly up at the hero of Trafalgar; only the thin stream of smoke which issued from her curved nostrils indicated that she had not lapsed into a trance. The bells of St. Martin-in-the-Fields chimed the quarter. Mr. Pycraft cleared his throat, pointed at Nelson, and in faultless beche-de-mer remarked:

"One arm folla stopping towaide volly good man."
There was no reply.
"Belong him folla only one eye," Mr. Pycraft went on, conversationally. "Bad fella, Frenchman shoot out."
He made extravagant motions illustrating that distant tragedy, and added firmly: "Him folla Nelson very good, all right."

"All the same rat up a pole," replied the lady ungraciously without moving her eyes. Mr. Pycraft winced.

"Madam, you don't know what you're saying," he rebuked her lily. "That is Admiral Nelson of Trafalgar."

"Sure, I savvy Cap'n Nelson," said the Polynesian, rummaging into the depths of her bass bag. "See I got his picture." She held out a limp and grimy postcard.

It was a photograph of Trafalgar-square, seemingly taken long before the war. Gentlemen in top hats and boaters were seen craning their necks at the lofty statue, the while lady companions clutched long-handled parasols and kept their eyes demurely downcast. Only in that position could they balance their hats. In the background was what might have been a hansom cab.

"Er—very nice indeed," said Mr. Pycraft, handing it back. "Plenty of detail, if you know what I mean. May one ask how you obtained it?"

"I gettun down along Fiji, from Big Ollie Olsen, time I go on board his ole schooner for the washing. Big Ollie all the time speak Black Nollie best washer girl in Lovuka. Black Nollie belong my name, savvy?"

"Quite," said Mr. Pycraft politely.

"Well, one day I sit on the poop, mending Ollie's monkey jacket that got broke when they thrown him out of Ming Lee's fan tan shanty. First he knock down one Dutchman and three Kanaka boys with a chair," she added. "They take 'em to the Baptist Missionary Hospital, all the same dead."

"Quite a sturdy individual, apparently," smiled Mr. Pycraft. Black Nollie paused in the act of rolling another cigarette, and eyed him suspiciously. "I no savvy that palaver," she said.

"Muscular... powerful... strong," Mr. Pycraft explained hurriedly.
"Sure, Big Ollie's strong. Number One very fine sailor. Two fathom high, two fathom broad, flat all the same coconut. Ollie got yella hair, same like that," she continued, with growing animation, pointing to a peroxide tynist hurrying across the Square. "Eya blue like fair weather sky, teeth white same as sea shells. He win bottle of gin in Suva when he bite through a three-inch rope."

"And he gave you that photograph," Mr. Pycraft interrupted tactfully. He was a little ashamed at having disturbed such hidden depths. After all, some feelings are sacred, no matter what the colour of one's skin.

"It fall out of Ollie's monkey jacket. What place this? I say. My home, he say, London, England. My ole Pop, he live round the corner. Suppose I catch some money then I go home to my Pop, drink whiskey all night for a year. You good girl, Nollie, he say. I give you my home picture for nothing."

Mr. Pycraft shook his head in silence. An old, old story had been re-enacted beneath the Southern Cross. Her next words confirmed his suspicions.

"Next morning, when I look for Ollie's schooner, she is gone. The beachcombers say she up anchor at daylight, and runs South with a full breeze. I run along the beach, making shouting and bobby; then I sit down and cry. Big Ollie's gone!"

"And he never came back," murmured Mr. Pycraft, struggling with a lump in his throat. "You waited and waited; but he never came!"

"I wait six months, one year, two years," Black Nollie went on, more quietly. "Then I go looksee for myself. One night I swim out to a 'Merican schooner and hide in the longboat till she said."

"Weren't you afraid of sharks?" asked Mr. Pycraft.

"I no think of Johnny shark," said Black Nollie simply. "My pld-gin go looksee for Big Ollie. Cap'n belong that schooner number one very good man, plenty whiskey, black coat for going on shore. All the time speak it 'Hallelujah' no making bad palaver all the same Ollie. He say suppose single girl stop along ship, all hands and cook-boy bye and bye go Holl Fire."

"So he took you back Lovuka?"

being evolved.

The loose wave, the swirled coil, the coquettish curl, have all come back, but in new aspects.

The way which the hair is lifted is very becoming, for the lines of the head and nape of the neck are left clear.

Short hair is cunningly swathed —as though it were a drapery—and the effect is to make it appear long.
For day-time the sideway swirled shingle is possibly the easiest and neatest style. Sometimes two, or three tiny curls are arranged on the neck to take away any suggestion of masculine cut.

Very charming are these low-back curls, especially when added to the new rolls in the centre. Another idea is for the hair to be pulled straight back from each side, to meet in a centre roll, with increasing curls on top, front and sides.

THE DECLINE OF THE HAT

Lily-White Complexions In Demand

MILLINERY, it seems, is one of the black spots in American trade, and university professors are discussing gravely the underlying causes of the decline of the hat, which is having so disastrous an effect on the trade generally.
Methods are also being discussed whereby the hat may be restored to the head and its importance as the crown of the work again duly recognised. Too many people, it appears, have taken to making hats and there are many who even make their own hats. Also hatlessness in the United States, as elsewhere, is increasing, and types of hairdressing have made hats less indispensable than were, say, in Marie Antoinette's day, writes a correspondent in the Manchester Guardian.

Craze For Sunning

Efforts to make the hat much more of an affair have not been really effective against the craze for sunning and tanning, and the sad part of it is that the decline in the hat is by no means due to the decline in business generally but had begun during the boom period. The United States, in short, are inclined to go tootot as regards hats, with the result that unscrupulous salesmen, rather than risk a total loss, are continually selling off hats at prices which are entirely un-economic. It is realised that people must again be brought back to a proper attitude about hats. The cultivation of lily-white complexions again would induce a demand for large and expensive hats.

Less boyish hairdressing, the feminine note, might help. But chiefly people are to realise, it seems, that it is a duty to wear hats when so many people are depending on this habit for a livelihood.
Carried out logically the argument is the same as that of the chimney-sweep who protested that people nowadays did not make enough soot, while, logically, as many of us as possible ought to die if we are to give the undertakers the chance of making an honest living.

LETTUCE

WHEN lettuces have to be kept overnight they should be well rinsed in cold water and then placed in a deep bowl and covered with a plate.

To revive a limp lettuce, place it upside down in a bowl half-full of water and leave it for a few hours.
When lettuce is being washed for salad a little vinegar added to the water will quickly bring out any worms or grubs that may be hidden in the folds of the leaves.

To cut the leaves with a steel knife tends to spoil their flavour.
It is better to divide them by hand.

THE fashion for quilting is extended in the large velvet coat, stock and rever facings on the coat, which is of the new Napoleonic or military cut.

CHAMPION OF MODERN YOUTH

Evangeline Booth's First Thoughts As General Salvation Army's New Head Discusses Problems

(By EVANGELINE BOOTH, General-Elect of the Salvation Army)

New York.
In a few weeks' time I shall come to live in England to take over the leadership of the Salvation Army, one of the greatest forces for good in this fast-moving generation.

So soon after my election by the High Council I feel some difficulty in expressing the thoughts which are foremost in my mind.

I am stirred by a deep sense of responsibility, and I am humbled by the thought that I have under me officers in all parts of the world whose lives have been devoted to the campaign for God to which my father, William Booth, and my mother, Catherine Booth, surrendered all that they were and all that they had.

In 87 lands, near and distant, the Salvation Army stands for the Gospel, freely offered to all nations, all races, all religions, as the one eternal passport to the more abundant life of soul and body, the one and only foundation of social stability, the one and one protocol of reconciliation between friend and foe.

In a great crusade consecrated to the service of humanity organization has always been a means to an end, not an end in itself. I have an open mind, and shall listen with sympathetic attention to every point of view placed before me as general, pre-judging no question that arises.

Constructive Problems

Our own problems in the Salvation Army, so far as we have any, are constructive and not controversial. They are really no different from problems which confront all associations of mankind and I see no reason why any problem which may arise during my generalship should be difficult to solve after prudent consideration in a satisfactory manner.

Domestic problems, I think, will not give us any anxious moments, because we are all united throughout the world in working of the sole and sufficient, as well as inspiring, purpose of the Salvation Army—to win men and women away from selfishness and hatreds and mistrust, and to show them what is the true pursuit of a worth-while happiness.

From my long experience in America, I have observed that great land men and women are turning more and more to Christianity as the one sure thing in the world.

"Man Now Realise"
The toppling over of values, the destruction of what were considered impregnable supports in a material sense, the bewilderment at rapidly changing economic conditions, have thrown the people back on to a fuller realization of the eternal truth that "Man shall not live by bread alone!"

This is not an experience which I think is confined alone to America, but is common to the whole of the world. People know they are living in a changing world, but they also know that the Divine plan laid down for them is changeless.

Many sections of the Church have considerably strengthened their position by taking part in social welfare work in America, work in which the Churches in this country have for long past participated.

It is only a matter of following the axiom laid down by my father, our founder, that it is no good preaching to a hungry man. After all, did not social welfare work as we know it originate with the Church when the feeding of the 5,000 set an example for all time?

Religion In Action

The Salvation Army is and has always been the popular conception of religion in action, and almost everywhere at some time or another we have been called in to counsel when plans affecting the needy were under consideration. We have contributed a great deal both in service and relief, and the result is that we probably stand higher in public esteem to-day than ever before in our history.

I regard the work of social welfare as being of tremendous importance, but all the time we must keep in mind the primary object of our existence, the redemption of our existence, the redemption of the human soul.

What the world really needs is a revolution of Love—love for our fellow-man in all countries of the globe.

It is not the politicians, the bankers, the industrial magnates, or the dictators who finally will lead the world out of its miseries, entanglements, and blind alleys into established justice and peace, but great sacrificial lovers of mankind like St. Paul, Augustine, Francis of Assisi, Wesley, and William Booth.

They were thinkers, organizers, and leaders of men, but primarily great lovers of mankind who gave all and asked nothing in return. When men love one another they will deny themselves and see each other's welfare, and a new lights will appear on life's problems.

Youth Of To-day

I look to the youth of to-day to be the lovers of mankind of tomorrow. The young people of to-day may be having what is called a good time, but they are questing after Truth and the higher things just as seriously and earnestly as their forebears.

Religion is no longer scoffed at or derided. I have every confidence that the next generation will compare well with this one; for, after all, we have not too much about which we can boast.

I have no patience with people who decry the youth of to-day as being decadent. The same thing has been said of the young in every generation by those who were much older.

Personally, I am a champion of our youth. The youth of to-day is more open and above board than in the old days, and probably just as clean in mind and spirit.

Because girls of to-day follow the fashions, they do not necessarily have lower ethical standards than their mothers. The modern boy may not seem to be as chivalrous as his father, but I think he is just as upright and thoughtful.

So I am looking to youth to help in mending the troubles of the world. We have thousands of young people, soldiers of the army itself or active followers, I am proud of them as I am proud of the huge band of experienced officers whose loyal and enthusiastic support I know I shall receive as general.

EXTRA NOURISHMENT FOR GROWING CHILDREN

KLIM is particularly good for growing children. It has a rich, natural flavour, a flavour which children like. Moreover it contains the food elements which children must have—full cream, all the curds, whey, casein, enzymes and vitamins.

Klim is of unusual value to children who cannot or will not drink enough milk. Klim enables them to EAT milk.

Because it is dry, Klim can be added in increased quantities to such dishes as the children's cereal.

The nourishment of those foods can be increased as much as 100 per cent. in this simple way. This is possible with Klim because of its being practically devoid of moisture.

GIVE your children Klim to-day.

Klim is a Borden product—Your assurance of a food of the highest integrity.

"THE MERCHANT OF VENICE"

Pleasing Production At School Bazaar

Competitions, including skittles, dart throwing, fishing pond, gold-fish and hoppla, and a play. "The Merchant of Venice," in Chinese dialogue, offered a variety of entertainment at the joint St. Stephen's Girls' College and the Fairlea School bazaar yesterday.

The function, opened by Mrs. Henderson, wife of Mr. R. M. Henderson, Director of the Public Works Department, was held for the purpose of raising funds in aid of the Ministering Children's League and other local charity works.

Knitting goods, sewing and embroidery works, mostly done by the girls of the two schools, sweets, toys, and canned goods were on sale at 11 stalls and booths.

One of the cleverest entertainments was the Shakespearean play by pupils from the Fairlea School. The following comprised the cast:

Portia—Miss Kwok Wai-chun;
Bassanio—Miss Yeung King-fong;
Antonio—Miss Tsch Sze-wai;
Shylock—Miss Au Yuet-hang;
Nerissa—Miss Kong Lai-kit;
The Duke of Venice—Miss Lai Che-wai.

A retreat for the friends of Tao Fong Shan will be held at Shatin tomorrow week, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. At the morning session the Rev. Paul Tso will speak (in Cantonese and English) on "Modern Tendencies in Chinese Church Worship." At 2 p.m., after a Service of Dedication in the New Chapel, the Bishop of Hong Kong will speak on "The Kingdom of His Beloved Son." A discussion will follow.

HONG KONG HOTEL THEFT

Three Russian Stewards
Victimised

Messrs. V. Olofinsky, S. Potouloff, and K. A. Kaluzhny, stewards of the Hong Kong Hotel, were the complainants, who testified before Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning, against their attendant, Yip Sing, 22 years.

Yip Sing was charged with stealing three blue suits, a grey suit, an overcoat, a raincoat and a gold finger ring set with a stone, to the total value of $375.

It was stated that accused had been employed by the Hotel for the past five years, and that he was an attendant to the stewards. Accused was arrested following inquiries made regarding a missing ring, on Friday, and a search at his room at No. 9 Wellington Street, revealed a number of pawn tickets relating to the clothing.

Sentence of three months' hard labour was imposed. Detective Sergeant Fowle prosecuted.

LIFE INSURANCE— an Impregnable Wall

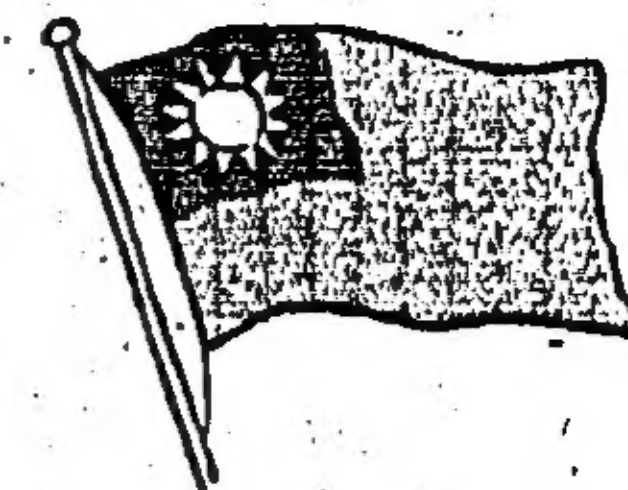

THE world has witnessed some sad economic experiences in recent years. Financial safeguards which were thought strong and trustworthy have proven weak and flimsy. You owe it to your dependents to build a substantial reserve against adversity; to protect them against future financial hazard. Millions of people live serenely behind the security that life insurance offers, that impregnable wall of defence against economic disaster.

You can create, at age 30, a ten thousand dollar estate, under our Guaranteed Maximum Protection Policy, for $220.00 yearly. In lieu of a lump sum payment, the proceeds will be paid in regular monthly instalments, if desired.

Militarism

OUR correspondence columns have borne witness to the fact that the question of the moral justification of war under any circumstances is very much a live question. But while most of us have at any rate learned from the events of twenty years ago that modern war is stark horror, that does not finish the matter. In these days of big guns it means that the soldier submits himself to the chance of being blown to bits by an unseen enemy with no chance of showing any superior skill in evading shells and no chance of being immune to gas. Unfortunately there is no sign that all the world will recognise that the game is too ghastly to be tolerated, and as long as there are people who are willing to take the chance the question really is, what are we going to do to meet their attack?

We are in a transitional stage at present. During the four years of actual world warfare the machine gun, the airplane, the tank, and other munitions naturally received enormous development, and in 1918 the warfare of 1914 was already out of date. The outstanding moral from the professional point of view was that if munitions had been equally efficient at the beginning of the war many vast tragedies would have been averted. Exactly the same moral applies to the personnel question. If the army of 1917 or 1918 had been available in 1914 the war would have been far less costly whether in material or men. In fact the soldier has for ever been preaching in vain to the civilian statesman that it is not economy to be slow in putting into the field all your possible strength.

However much we may hate war, and however frequently we may compromise to avoid it, it is merely shutting our eyes to the facts of life to pretend that there is no chance of having to defend ourselves; for every citizen looks to his Government to protect him from violence, and violence more frequent if there is no chance of resistance. But is it "militarism" to recognise this? There is all the difference between recognising the need for preparation and the deliberate provocation of war which we call "jingoism." There is nothing "jingo" about the commemoration of men who have done their military duty when called upon by the State, and there is no bathos about portraying the hero in art or on the stage, however frankly we recognise that there are other types of human being. A drama which only commemorated such men as Bernard Shaw's "chocolate soldier" in "Arms and the Man" would be as false to life as a drama that consisted entirely of Ouida's Guardsmen.

The Tattoo has run its successful course and gone, and it is fair to ask what harm could it possibly have done? To begin with, we all read history more or less; and if we are to picture to ourselves the scenes we read about we might as well do it correctly. The practical soldier has a saying that "it takes a man to kill a man," and there can be no romantic illusions nowadays about one man being as good as an indefinite number of the enemy. Another new element is that staying at home as a civilian will not exempt anyone from having to take his chance when plans are laid for wholesale bombardment of big towns. He will either have to do his share of work or be branded as a slacker. Moreover there is no use repeating the old mistake of "preparing for the last war." In a technical warfare the great call will be for trained men, and there will be no time to give men a competent training after war begins except at the cost of sacrificing those who have already been trained. If any spectator should be so attracted by the glamour of war as shown at the Tattoo that he should be inspired to join the Hong Kong Volunteers he will get a training of which a sound body, a resourceful mind, and a quick response to the needs of the moment is the basis; and he will be all the better for it; to say nothing of satisfying his civic conscience by fitting himself to be useful in an emergency.

By all means let us prevent the armament makers from inciting people to use their wares. At last, for the first time in history, in the Bolivia-Paraguay war, an effective embargo on imported arms has been enforced. By all means let us strengthen the League and the Hague Court. But until war has really gone out of the world of probabilities, to try to fix a stigma on the trained soldier who serves his country is to seek to assist the champions of chaos.

REMINISCENCES
THERE are many events worthy of a word of comment that are not so much historical events themselves as revelations of events that will influence the future: and never has any age been so prolific as ours. The last twenty years have been a crowded stage on which even the supers have insisted on having a line or two of dialogue, or at any rate joining in the applause; and the difficulty of the historian will be to find time to read even the first hand evidence. Unfortunately when he has read it, he will have an even bigger task in estimating the value of conflicting depositions.

The man of action is not often a picturesque writer, and he has usually been so busy playing his own part that he has not had time to watch what other actors are doing; but when he sticks closely to a statement of what came within his own observation, as the Duke of Wellington did in his dispatches, he may cross the boundary into literature. The public has a right to expect that any man who writes a record of his life will try to keep that goal in view.

ILLUMINATION

THE least illuminating memoirs are those of men in a position to know something of what goes on through being in a subordinate position attached to the principal actors. The temptation to imagine what is not actually known is almost irresistible, for otherwise the story will not hang together. The danger is that subsequently the principals will take a hand and make it obvious that what showed on the surface was only half the tale, and the least important half at that. There is no good purpose to be served by enumerating these books, which are rapidly being forgotten. But a subordinate may sometimes by seeing things with a seeing eye illuminate a period better than any of his chiefs.

A general reader can get a better idea of the Boer side of the South African war and of the succeeding years by reading the "Honourable Deneys Reitz's" "Commando" and "Trekkers on" than in any other way. The negotiations at Versailles are a most forbidding subject, as futile as the resultant Treaty, but Mr. Harold Nicolson on making peace at Versailles, or J. M. Keynes on the Economic Consequences will dispense a student from much laborious research. And recently we have had Mr. Reginald Johnston's "Twilight in the Forbidden City," which in the most fascinating and almost impersonal way opens up a skylight into much dark intrigue as to make many more pretexts accounts of the same period look rather silly. Books like these are really illuminating and make public opinion.

PERSONALITIES

THE virtue of such writers is that they know that the public will only be interested in what they tell. The prominent or popular statesman is apt to think that he has been so important that the public will eagerly swallow unlimited information about their own persons; and the result is frequently that they bury themselves beneath a paper mausoleum. LESSONS FROM THE AIR RACE

INCENTIVE TO AIRCRAFT AND ENGINE MAKERS

GREAT INSPIRATIONAL VALUE

(By Our Aviation Correspondent.)

WHAT effect will the recent air race from Mildenhall to Melbourne have on the future of aviation?

It is certain that it will provide a stimulus second only to that given by the war. Apart from the obvious incentive to aircraft and engine manufacturers there are many other advancements and improvements which will take place now the race is over.

Imagine, for example, the enormous inspirational value of such a widely publicised international sporting event.

The youth of every country in the world has been reading in the daily press of tales of daring, perils faced and conquered, and victory in the face of overwhelming odds.

Youth is impressionable, romantic, idealistic. It cannot fail to be awayed by an event of such magnitude and glamour as this air race—11,000 miles of desert, mountain, and jungle, and hard flying by day and by night through rain, wind, storm, or blazing sun.

LINDBERGH'S EFFECT

It is well known that Lindbergh's flight inspired thousands all over the world and did much to spread air-mindedness, and there can be no doubt that this race had equal power to inspire.

The route to Australia passes over about a dozen different countries, each with its own language, customs, and prejudices.

Some may be friendly, some merely non-co-operative, others may be openly hostile, yet all for the purposes of this race agreed to help the competitors as much as possible.

Aviation is essentially international. It can know no boundaries as have for centuries been usually recognised, and it can be a powerful instrument for peace.

SPREADING GOODWILL

Pilots of many nationalities flying through almost as many different countries can do a great deal to spread the gospel of peace and good will.

FIVE YEARS AGO

Extracts from the "SUNDAY HERALD" of November 5, 1929.

In connection with the aviation accident which took place in Hong Kong harbour in which Flying Officer Ward met his death, a message of condolence has been received by the Governor of Hong Kong from the Governor of Macao.

Mr. Leung Kam-hong, who will be remembered as one of the best billiards players in the Colony, officially assumed duty as the Hong Kong agent of the China Steamship Co., Ltd., Shanghai.

Miss Jessie Pui Chun To became the bride of Mr. William Ngartse Thomas Tan, Barrister-at-Law.

WHAT THEY SAY

"The happiest hour of my life will come when I shall be able for the first time to set foot in the East."—Herb Hitter.

"Be prepared at any moment for any incident from whatever quarter."—Signor Mussolini.

"Taking the great industrial countries of the world, Britain stands alone regarding the expansion of industry and commerce."—Mr. Walter Runciman.

"Fashion knows no age limit."—Mr. Frank Chitham.

"There are those who say that craft unionism has served its day."—Mr. John Hill.

—THE "HERALD" CALENDAR

November 3, 1839—Britain commenced her first war against China.

November 6, 1909—Census taken in Hong Kong.

November 7, 1911—The revolution movement in China was reflected by rioting in Hong Kong.

On the organisation side the race could not help but create a tremendous incentive for badly-needed improvements.

For example, a pilot who wishes to fly to Australia has much hard work beforehand obtaining the necessary permits, maps, supplies of petrol and oil, and so on.

It takes at least six weeks to collect all the permits, and probably much longer to lay down fuel supplies, while maps of some parts of the route have been practically unobtainable.

For this race special arrangements were made to overcome all such difficulties.

CLEARING THE WAY

Flying to Australia will now probably be a much simpler matter than it has ever been before. The whole route for the race was almost as well organised as the London-Paris line.

SIR SHOU-SON CHOW KI.

This is the fourteenth of the exclusive "Sunday Herald" series of sketches of leading Colony residents by Mr. A. S. Konyak, the talented Hungarian artist.

Mr. Chow Cheong-ling, or, as he is known to his intimates, the Hon. Sir Shou-son Chow, was born in Hong Kong 75 years ago. After his early education in China he was sent by the Chinese Government in 1873 to America, where he, after several years, entered the Columbia University, New York, as one of the Government students.

On returning to his native land he received, in 1881, a Government appointment on a deputation to Korea to assist in the establishment of the Korean Customs. He remained in this service for about 10 years, after which he was transferred by Yuan Shih-kai, the late President of China, to the Consular Service. At that time Yuan was the Minister Resident in Korea, and held that post, with Sir Shou-son Chow as one of his assistants, until the outbreak of the Sino-Japanese War.

SHIPPING MAGNATE
Sir Shou-son Chow then left for China, and, after occupying various official positions, he became managing director of the China Steam Navigation Company in Hong Kong.

He held that post for a number of years, and was then appointed managing director of the Peking-Mukden Railway. For four years he was in this highly responsible position, and on his relinquishing it he was the recipient of a most gratifying testimonial from the European staff, acknowledging in the highest terms the services he had rendered. This was a rare distinction, only one other such instance having been known.

HIGH POSITION DECLINED
He was later sent to Newchwang in the capacity of Customs' Tao-tai. This was a position involving many official duties besides those directly connected with the Customs service. He was responsible for a territory of several hundred square miles, and had control of all foreign

There is ONLY ONE Ovaltine

THERE are definite reasons why delicious 'Ovaltine' is the supreme tonic food beverage.

The formula and scientific processes employed in the preparation of 'Ovaltine' cannot be copied. It is made from the highest qualities of malt extract, fresh creamy milk and new-laid eggs. There is no indigestible starch in 'Ovaltine' nor does it contain large percentages of cheaper ingredients—such as sugar and cocoa—to reduce the price.

Every drop of 'Ovaltine' is pure, concentrated, health-giving nourishment. Its ingredients are so perfectly balanced to the needs of the body and are so easily assimilated that its regular use strengthens instead of overtaxing the digestive organs.

A Rare Snake

It is our practise to inform grass-cutting women that we are willing to pay small sums for living specimens of snakes and that the amount paid varies not with the size of the specimen but with the relative rarity of the species. Two half-grown snakes belonging to a species called Boiga multimaculata have recently been acquired in this manner both having been found in the University Compound. It is a rare species and though in the course of the last two or three years I have received several specimens I have not yet seen a full grown one. It is not one of the very poisonous species of which there are six species in the Colony (exclusive of sea-snakes) but belongs to the semi-poisonous group represented locally by five species. This means that the venom is passed along two or three grooved fangs at each side of the head but these are not the most anterior of the maxillary teeth as in the Cobra but the most posterior. It is curious that the front-fanged snakes (e.g. Cobras, Hamadryads, Kraits, Sea-snakes) are all much more venomous than the back-fanged snakes. In addition to being less venomous the back-fanged snakes have greater difficulty in injecting venom into their prey. In fact it may be only prior to swallowing the prey that the venom is injected. Perhaps a little poison helps to quieten the living food and prevent it from tickling the snake's stomach. Man need not therefore fear to handle these semi-poisonous species.

Boiga multimaculata is a beautiful snake which very closely resembles in its colouring the Russell's Viper. This viper does occur in south Kwangtung but during six years in the Colony I have never received one of local origin.

THE PASSING HOUR

Kaiser said, when Prince Bulow's memoirs came out that he was the first man he had known to commit suicide after he was dethroned and that was the whitest thing the Kaiser has to his record. Polinore made the same mistake; nobody but a specialist researcher will ever read that long row of volumes. John Morley did much to kill the Gladstone legend by making a vivid and charming personality into a something very like a longwinded prig. Diarmid left in his letters, especially those to his favourite sister, some incomparable material; but only a lecherous man can tackle five folio volumes of six hundred pages. The more is fatal to the enough.

APOLOGIAS.

FAR worse is the man who, wise after the event, tries to make out that he has always been right, and deals out censure or patronage to his contemporaries. To one who remembers the moral authority once wielded by John Morley it is rather pitiable to reflect how his self-approbation reduced him by his own hand to very ordinary proportions; and Lord Asquith, whose fame seemed assured by his stolid patience under unjust attack, has stepped down quite a long rung in the ladder with every book of recollections or letters published since he resigned, and especially since he deduced. Friends and relatives ought to have more regard to the fame of the helpless dead. Even Lord Grey of Fallodon, the most reserved of men, has saddled himself with the responsibility of a military agreement with France which was largely the cause of war, and which he never discussed with the Cabinet. Mr. Lloyd George is an even worse case. He not merely wrote from confidential documents, but makes statements which show that he had neglected to inform himself properly about important things, and carries on feuds with those who served him well, particularly Lord Haig. It is an old saying, "Oh that mine enemy would write a book."

A description can be given briefly, and very distinct from neck, body grey-brown above with two alternating series of roundish dark spots and two other series of small spots over down the side. It resembles a Russell's Viper in that the pupil of the eye is vertical but differs in that the top of the head is covered with enlarged shields instead of with small overlapping scales as in most vipers. The only other local snake in the Colony with rows of spots or blotches along the back and sides is the python, Python molurus bivittatus. Curiously enough, I have received accounts recently of two pythons. But a python, even a young one, can be distinguished easily from Boiga multimaculata by the deep pits in the first two upper lip scales. No one need fear a python in Hong Kong, their favourite food is pigs not people but they probably live in the main on deer and rats. There are some quite big ones on the island, one that was caught for me last year weighed over 70 lbs.

Whilst watching a captive Bamboo-snake, Trimeresurus albolabris, an interesting fact was noticed recently. The snake was obviously annoyed at our presence and elevated the tip of its tail and vibrated it rapidly. This wagging of the tail which is characteristic of a feature of the American Rattlesnakes is not a sign of pleasure but probably fulfils two other purposes. It attracts the attention of the future victim and thereby increases the chance of the snake to seize its prey at the first attempt and also, perhaps, can be regarded as an indication of loss of temper. We have observed young Boiga multimaculata one day hatched from the egg, do the same thing and also young specimens of a harmless species, Lyodon vilvulus. It is not surprising that a Bamboo-snake should shake its tail for it is a pit-viper in the same sub-family as the American rattlesnake. Curious that no Asiatic pit-vipers possess a rattle and that many American ones do, presumably American snakes are in more of a hurry.

WIFE OF ROBBER ACQUITTED

Received Stolen Money From Husband

EARLY MORNING RAID BY POLICE

For receiving jewellery and money, which she knew to be stolen property, Tsui Yip, a 35-year-old married woman, appeared before Mr. E. I. Wynne Jones at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court yesterday morning. Owing to the fact that the property was given to her by her husband she was discharged.

Inspector Shaffain, of the Shamshui Police Station, stated that on information received he raided the defendant's house at No. 126 Pak Wah Street at 2 a.m. on October 25. He found the defendant in bed, and after questioning her he told her to get out of bed, which at first she refused to do. Later when she got out he made a thorough search and found under the bed ten $10 notes, which were lying loose on the floor and were slightly wet.

He then searched on a ledge above the bed where he found a gold bead and two pieces of gold strips.

An armed robbery had been made on a pawnshop in Tsun Wan that night, and all the articles were identified by the pawnbroker's clerk.

It was subsequently proved that the woman's husband was one of the robbers, and that he returned immediately after the robbery and gave the articles to the defendant, telling her that he would never see her again as he was going to Macau. He also said that the jewellery and money would "keep her going" for sometime.

When asked by Mr. Wynne Jones whether it was possible for her husband to return from Tsun Wan, give the things to the defendant and then get away before the police arrived, Inspector Shaffain stated that the robbers left the pawnshop at 11 p.m. and that they had a car waiting for them in Tsun Wan.

Mr. Wynne Jones ordered the jewellery and money to be returned to the pawnbroker.

The total haul of the robbers was $2,100, and only the above articles found on the premises were recovered.

FRENCH CRUISER ARRIVES

The French cruiser, Primauguet, with Rear Admiral Richard on board, arrived yesterday morning from Shanghai. An official salute of 21 guns was fired, which was returned by Blackhead fort.

At 10 a.m. the Senior Naval Officer, Captain E. Manners, of H.M.S. Suffolk, made an official call on board the French cruiser and a salute of 15 guns was fired.

The vessel is expected to remain in port for two or three days.

The American transport Pecos also arrived yesterday morning on her way to Manila. The Fifth Destroyer Flotilla, headed by the U.S.S. Black Hawk, is expected to arrive to-morrow.

RUSSIAN CIRCUS AT WANCHAI

Change Of Programme.

Clowns, animals, trapeze artists and acrobats continue to give thrilling entertainment at Yako's Russian Circus, Hennessy Road, Wanchai.

The complete change of programme, made last night, should add considerably to the large audiences which have gathered since the popular circus made its move from Kowloon.

The menagerie, which contains one of the largest assortment of animals ever brought to Hong Kong, is open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily.

Secrets Of Success In Game Of Life Concentration & Unity Essential

Two Qualities That Win

(By the Rev. J. N. Lewis Bryan.)

UNLESS I am very much mistaken, one of the main topics of conversation for the next few days, will be the Tattoo, which finished last night. Owing to the tremendous expense, and the amount of rehearsing that has to be done by the troops taking part, it is only possible to stage one of these events at very long intervals. Only once before in the history of the Colony has it been attempted. The one that has just concluded may possibly be the only one that will be produced for many years to come.

There are few things more inspiring, and few things that leave deeper memories, than Military Tattoos. Usually they are held in picturesque settings, which lend their natural beauty to the artificial lighting. Then who is there, who does not thrill when the massed Bands are on the march? Perhaps the battle scenes will live long in the memory, seeing that one of them at least, was reproduction of one of the greatest episodes in the history of one of our local Regiments. Whether the grown-ups saw the dress rehearsal in daylight, I do not know, but I am certain that many a little one, Chinese and Foreign, will not soon forget the awe-inspiring sight of the Zulus marching across the open, to attack the farm, with their blood-curdling shouts.

Then there was "Sam Small," and the toy soldiers, a touch that lent lightness to a programme of otherwise serious military scenes, not to mention the Loch Ness Monster, and the Chinese lions, while the Indian Dances took us far away to the hills and plains of India.

Secret Of Success The world to-day is full of the wrecks of humanity, who have either started out with no goal in view at all, or else who have focussed their minds and thought and strength on something entirely unworthy of themselves, and the God Who made them. The second secret of success is Co-operation. In the Tattoo it was reduced to a fine art. Perfect timing of the searchlights upon the spot required, every man working under the hand of a man who knew his job, and had his finger on every detail, while every one pulled his weight for the common end.

Co-operation is a great word these days. Scattered all over England there are chains of Co-operative Stores. The same idea lies behind the formation of the trades unions throughout the world. Unity means strength, and it is not only the long pull and the strong pull, but the pull altogether that drags the other team over the line. It is the root idea of the team spirit, when a man does not try to score goals for his own glory, but for the sake of his side. Many a boy has learned a lesson for his whole life when he has learned to pass the ball, for Co-operation kills selfishness, one of the most deadly sins in life.

BANISHEE POSES AS MISSIONARY

Found Loitering Near European's House

"You are a missionary, are you? The police must be very proud of you," remarked Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning, when Yu Ching-tak, a banishee, appeared before him on remand. Accused, who was arrested by Mr. M. H. Arnold at his residence, No. 8, Causeway Bay, Hill, was charged with loitering, and returning to the Colony from banishment.

Accused stated that he was a Christian. He was convicted on a charge of loitering at a Peak residence previously and was banished last February for 10 years. A fine of $250, in default three months' hard labour, was imposed on the loitering charge, while on the second charge he was sentenced to 12 months' hard labour.

Triumph Of The Church

It was the radiant corporate life of the early Church that won the non-Christian world, in the early days of our Faith. It was the secret of the Master's life that He pleased not Himself. He made Himself one of us, sharing the changes and chances of ordinary humanity, showing us how the same might and could be played. He left it on record, that we are all one in Him, and that He wants our Co-operation in the tremendous task of making the world in which we live, a better and a happier place.

It is not the job, only of the Church and the parson, but of everyone, and if we are not taking part in it and doing our share, then some part of what is required, will never be done. Success in life, religion, games, everything, depends very largely on how much of these qualities you are putting into them.

U.S. ARMY BUYS 1467 WESTINGHOUSE REFRIGERATORS

The War Department of the United States has awarded a contract to the Westinghouse Company for 1467 refrigerators, in continuation of their policy of equipping their officers' quarters in various posts throughout the country with modern conveniences.

The order was given to Westinghouse only after exhaustive tests had been made of their refrigerator in competition with seven of their most prominent competitors.

This is indeed a glowing tribute to the superiority of Westinghouse refrigerators.

First cost was not the main consideration in the United States Army's decision to place their order for Westinghouse. Their principal concern was to obtain a refrigerator which would give them satisfaction for years to come at a minimum operating and serving cost.

TATTOO DATE

[To the Editor, "Sunday Herald"]

Sir, Under "Correspondence" in your issue of today, October 20, there appears a letter by "Acharnian" on the subject of the date selected for the holding of the Military Tattoo here in the Colony.

The gist of his objection to its being staged just before the annual commemoration of the armistice is, if I understand him right, that a Tattoo is essentially a glorification of things military and an invitation to honour the God of War.

His further expansion on this theme seems to mean that, in his opinion, this form of display is almost an insult to those who gave their lives in the struggle of 1914-1918 and as calculated to inspire and continue that belief in war and that martial ardour from which we were supposed to "suffer" prior to 1914.

As to the choice of dates, if there are many who feel as he does and who are genuinely shocked by this association of apparently unconciliable functions, a mistake has undoubtedly been made in that offence has been given to sensitive persons that might have been avoided and, in fact, that should have been avoided if possible.

So far I can go with him, but no further, for to me there is no incognito in this association of dates, but rather a very worthy and respectful observance to the memory and service of those greater soldiers that went before us.

What is the function of the regular armed forces of the Crown in these days? Is it not to defend those very principles of civilisation that we consider make life worth living and to guard the Homelands of the people who practice them?

Our Empire poured out lives and treasure to that end unflinchingly and we, if we interpret their sufferings in the wrong sense today, may give up the citadel they retained for us.

We shall be cowards if we do so.

The difference of view in such matters arises, I think, out of a very real disagreement between two schools of thought.

The one feels that our men died in vain between 1914-1918 because the war has not proved to be "a war to end war."

It is necessary, however, to remember that that catch phrase was coined by an excitable politician much given to slogans. It deceived few thinking people at the time, and none since 1919.

The other school looks to what might have happened to us had we lost the war. In addition to all the ills we suffered, and still suffer, defeat would have brought us near to slavery.

My only object in attempting a reply to "Acharnian" is to plead for a change of heart in himself and those who think with him.

I know that the majority of the men who fell in the Great War would be proud and pleased to feel that the spirit of service and sacrifice they possessed, and which kept us a free nation, was still alive. They saved us from slavery.

The Nation cannot afford to maintain a regular army to-day that can give it security on land to any large degree.

It was the same in 1914. The regular army now, as then, must act as the cover behind which the Nation takes up its arms once more when its freedom is threatened.

It is a matter of extreme urgency that this shield should be of the best possible quality, that it should

A MARRIED MAN'S EXPERIENCE

[To the Editor, "Sunday Herald"]
Sir,—Having found out a wonderful cure for how married men suffering from business worries can receive instant relief, I think it only right that I should let one and all into my secret.

Last night, returning home to Kowloon after a very trying day at the office, with my nerves all jagged, things were not improved when I arrived home and found my wife giving a mah-jong party and the children playing in my room, having done their best to turn it into the Sahara Desert. I thought perhaps dinner would improve my feelings, but on going into the dining room, was informed that the cook had been arrested for gambling. This was the last straw. I flew to the hall to take my hat from the stand to make for Hong Kong to try and find the "high spots." If possible.

As I took my hat off, the hat stand, I almost knocked over the most hideous and detestable vase I have ever seen—a present from my mother-in-law.

On passing the Peninsula Hotel, I was attracted by the lights of the Carnival. Thinking this a good place to forget one's worries, I went in and soon found myself standing in front of a stall which bore the sign "Smashing up the 'Appy' Ome'."

"Four balls for 10 cents," the attendant was crying. Pressing a dollar into his hand, I said, "Give me forty" and then I started to smash and smash and smash.

Presently my eye caught sight of the replica of mother-in-law's vase and with careful aim I shattered it into a thousand pieces. With the smashing of that vase, all my worries seemed to slip from me and I had no inclination to go on smashing. Having twenty bills left, I asked the attendant if he would return me my money on these, but he replied that there was still being considered by the League of Nations and he would have to wait for their decision before any money was refunded.

I then became aware of a man standing alongside of me with a most woe-begone expression. The thought struck me that he must also be a married man with many be actuated by a desire to serve at least as well as did its predecessors and that it should be capable of all sacrifices to avoid failures.

Military displays are, I think, designed to achieve these ends.

They aim at attracting good men to the Service of their country, inspiring them with high ideals of patriotism and also, let it be hoped, educating the vast civilian population behind them in an understanding and sympathy with their first lines of defence.

A sailor, soldier, or airman is no longer a hired assassin thirsting for blood and glorifying in war.

He is a highly disciplined and sober person who knows that the next time he is called upon to fight he will have a greater strain placed upon him than that of 1914.

He does not make the wars. He merely tries to obtain peace again when once the politicians' pens have failed them.

He deserves every encouragement from the civil population to fit himself for the struggle if it should come.

It is not those whose memories we commemorate on November 11 that misunderstand the motives moving the Fighting Forces to-day.

We may be somewhat disillusioned and depressed by the absence of a general desire for Peace in the world today. It is largely our own faults for allowing ourselves to place too high a value on the untold machinery of peace that hasty men tried to erect in a chaotic world too soon after a great war.

The politicians expect the Fighting Forces to be able to support their policy for them should war occur, in spite of everything they may be able to do to avert it.

Our history as a Nation is full of incidents where the policy outstripped the means provided and where small forces on land and on sea were annihilated whilst trying to maintain some interest considered vital to our welfare.

If our attenuated forces of to-day are to have the physical fitness and moral courage to emulate the deeds of the giants of the past, they must be understood, encouraged, and assisted by all men of goodwill who think, with me, that the greatest factor for peace and justice in the world to-day is the British commonwealth of Nations.

And a Nation is great or otherwise according as its sons and daughters think more of their nation and its institutions than of danger and discomfort for themselves, in a word, where the spirit of service and sacrifice predominates.

It is as much a civil as a military virtue, but a military organization falls completely without it.

A Tattoo is not, then, a desecration of Armistice Day.

SAUCY FACE BURNS UP TRACK FOR NEW SPRINT RECORD

Bronze Era Unplaced In Epic Struggle

AUSTRALIAN BOY SETS NEW MARK

JOHNNY HEARD RIDES TWO FINE FINISHES

$42.50 HIGHEST DIVIDEND

WINNING THE NULLAH NULLAH PLATE YESTERDAY AT THE VALLEY IN 1.19.3, MR. PAU'S SAUCY FACE (MR. IP KUI YING) SHATTERED THE TRACK RECORD FOR SIX FURLONGS, CLIPPING THREE-FIFTHS OF A SECOND OFF ATLAS' RECORD. DINTY, RIDDEN BY MR. NORMAN DEITZ, THE LEADING JOCKEY THIS SEASON, WAS SECOND, ONLY A NECK BEHIND.

In the other Australian race Australian Boy (Mr. Davis), riding at 1 lb. above weight for inches, clipped a fifth of a second off High Finance's track mark for a mile and 171 yards.

The track was in excellent condition and fast times were recorded in almost all of the eight very open races. Two dead-heats featured the afternoon. A large crowd was present and parimutuel returns (now back on the $5 basis) showed a welcome increase.

Mr. Johnny Heard, who rode a superb finish on West Parade to win the second leg of the "double," took the riding honours for the day, securing two wins and a second in five starts. He also rode a good finish on Warrington after losing his whip 100 yards from the post.

THE HIGHEST DIVIDEND OF THE DAY WAS PAID OUT ON DELIGHTFUL CHANCE — $42.50 — IN THE NOVICES' RACE, AND THE HIGHEST CASH SWEEP PRIZE WAS VALUED AT $1,457.40.

A fairly large crowd, including Mr. E. the Governor and Lady Peel, were present in bright, sunny weather when the Sussex Handicap, after a long delay at the start caused by the gate breaking, resumed in Mr. F. F. Li bringing an outsider home to pay $42.50.

Chesterfield, the favourite, drew the rails for the six furlongs sprint and got away to a good start beside Bold Commander, with Delightful Chance in third position. Hell for Leather and The Bodega were left badly. The favourite shook off Bold Commander at the Rock, but was unable to gain on Delightful Chance, and, on entering the straight, lost all his advantage by vacating the rails and allowing the outsider to come through by three lengths. In Good Time was a poor fourth with Ironside and The Bodega in close attendance.

Saucy Face's Record Run
As expected the six furlongs track record was shattered in the Nullah Nullah Plate, but the surprise was provided by Saucy Face (Mr. Ip), who clipped three-fifths of a second off Atlas' record. Bronze Era, the favourite, came fourth, and Nell Gwyn, second favourite, just secured third place.

All, except Woodland Stag, got away to a perfect start. Bobnik Star set the pace with Saucy Face in close attendance. Nell Gwyn being third. After the Rock, however, the E. S. K. entry faltered and Saucy Face took the lead with Bronze Era looking dangerous. Bobnik Star recovered, but the early lapse had lost him the race, and Saucy Face came home, unwhipped, a neck ahead of Dinty (Mr. Deitz) who came through with a tremendous burst to beat the fast tiring Nell Gwyn. Bobnik Star was fifth.

Finishing with a 0.25.3 last quarter, Saucy Face paid $27.40.

St. Leger Winner?
Electric Star showed signs of winning the St. Leger at the next meeting during his run in the Griffiths Cup and won comfortably from Gladiator after securing the lead in the back straight.

Soldier of Germany was the pace-maker with King's Fancy leading the rest of the field. At the football stands Mr. Butler took Electric Star up and caught Soldier of Germany at the foot of the incline to the Rock, and never looked back, despite a brief breather. Gladiator was an easy second and Soldier of China staved off Ribble's challenge for third place.

The Tiger Likes Weight
Mr. Charles took Lomborg out into the lead in the Kent Handicap, the first leg of the "double," but was displaced by Flying Tourist at the football stands, and was never in the race again.

The Tiger, a warm favourite, shot into prominence in the back straight and overhauled the finished Flying Tourist at the Rock and won comfortably from Racing Boy and Wayward Stag, in spite of being raised 12 lb following his win at the last meeting.

Bistre, which finished fifth, behind Valorous, might have been very close had he not been in the second row at the start. Spinaway was sixth.

Of the 1,316 tickets in the double, only 274 were on The Tiger, which paid $16.30 on the parimutuel.

Burgomaster Fails
After setting the pace at the start and being overtaken at the Rock, Warrington (Mr. Heard) just caught Chivalrous (Mr. Fung) in a thrilling dead-heat finish in the Suffolk Handicap. Chivalrous looked every inch the winner coming into the home straight. Iron Grey finished strongly in third position, only a short head behind the winners.

Burgomaster found himself boxed in until the home straight was reached and was unable to do better than secure fifth place, behind Festival Eve.

Glencages Wins
An old favourite again came into prominence when Glencages (Mr. Proulx) showed a good burst of speed over the last quarter to beat King's Bounty and King's Warden, who dead-heated, by three lengths. He paid $13.40 and provided Mr. Dunbar with his first win for several meetings.

Don set a fast pace at the start. High Speed, Macaroni, and King's Bounty following him. Like the much famed Mayflower and King's Warden, Glencages was in the van. At the Rock King's Bounty looked the winner, but he failed to come back in the home stretch as he did at the last meeting. Mayflower ended up fourth.

Mr. Heard's Fine Ride
The second leg of the "double" witnessed a magnificent piece of riding by Mr. Johnny Heard. Only a brilliant last quarter finish by West Parade prevented a sensational upset on the parimutuel. Heart's Glory (Mr. A. A. R. Botelho) just being beaten by a neck after leading by 3 lengths with less than 100 yards to go.

Mr. Heard took the heavily weighted West Parade out into the lead at the start, Heart's Glory being right on his heels with Chief Seattle near at hand. At the Rock Heart's Glory had secured the lead and Great Hall was making a bold bid. West Parade appeared to have shot his bolt, but he responded well over the home stretch to snatch a dramatic win in the fast time of 2.05.3. Chief Seattle was third and Great Hall fourth.

Mr. Heard's amazing finish gave 88 of the 274 successful backers of The Tiger $27.90 on the "double" and paid $16.70 on the parimutuel.

In Record Time
Australian Boy, held well in hand by Mr. Davis until the back straight, burned up the track to clock 2.00.1, a fifth of a second better than High Finance's record, in the Ballarat Handicap. He was riding at 1 lb. above weight for inches. Empire Day was second, four lengths behind, and Glorious Star beat The Giraffe for third place. Alacrity faded right out of the picture after looking dangerous at the Rock.

This will probably be Australian Boy's last appearance in the "B" Class this season.

YESTERDAY'S JOCKEYS HEADED BY MR. HEARD

E. O.

Navy's First Win

Castillo, shaky at the start, settled down to play well, though he was well marked by Love. Gomes saw little of the game, most of the forward play being between Alves and Gosano.

Beltrao was not up to form, and had a busy afternoon with Strong, coming off second-best from most of their encounters. His passing at times was good, but he concentrated too much on Gosano, when quite often a judicious pass to the wing would have opened the game far more effectively.

V. Marques was off-colour, and at least two of the Navy's goals can be traced to his failure to mark Wearmouth, who was very fast and who was given for too much scope. Gomes was up against a first winger in Howells, but managed to hold his own.

The Recreio backs, Silvio-Netto and Howen were none too safe, though Bowen stood up and made some really good clearances later in the game. Marques again saved many hard shots but low shots seem his special weakness.

The Navy really got together in this match, and showed that in Howells, Strong and Wearmouth, they have three forwards who are fast and untiring, and eager to snap up any opportunity to shoot.

Wearmouth particularly played a grand game, and made full use of everything that came his way. He was helped considerably by Marques, who was seldom near enough to bother him, and by Love, who put him away on every possible occasion.

Smith and Cannel were fast and positioned themselves well whenever an opening appeared. Strong played a hustling and energetic game, giving Beltrao no rest. He was responsible for two of the Navy's goals through his quickness and opportunism.

McGuire was a tower of strength in the defence and was ably assisted by Pyatt. He continually sent his wingers away with long, accurate passes, and was never far away from B. Gosano who, when he finds his form as he did yesterday, is a busy proposition for anyone to look after.

Rycroft and West showed good understanding, and their tackling was sound. Neither, however, seems to have a particularly strong kick, and some of the clearances were apt to be feeble. Pepper played well in goal, doing splendidly to hold drives from Alves and Gosano in the second half.

Navy Score First
The Navy attacked determinedly, and after Wearmouth and Smith had just missed, Howells secured and quickly transferred to Strong, who opened the scoring, giving Marques no chance. Wearmouth scored the second after cutting in from the line, and nearly added another, but V. Marques blocked his shot.

At the other end, B. Gosano had wretched luck when his shot, which had Pepper beaten all the way, struck the underside of the bar and rebounded into play.

The Recreio pressed continually for the first quarter of an hour after the interval, and after Pepper had saved from Gosano and Alves, the former got his head to a centre from Alves and flashed the ball into the net.

Retaliating, the Navy took the ball down the field, where Strong finished off a good movement by scoring his second goal. Shortly afterwards, Wearmouth received from McGuire, and ran down nearly to the touchline, before finally shooting into the for corner of the net.

Towards the end, Castillo ended a nice run with a centre which dropped right in the goalmouth, and B. Gosano threw himself at the ball and just managed to score with a header in the corner—a great effort.

Recreio's E. Mares, Silvio-Netto, Bowen, V. Marques, Beltrao, Gomes, Castillo, B. Gosano, Delgado, Gomes and Alves.

Navy: Pepper, Rycroft, West, Pyatt, McGuire, Love, Howells, Smith, Strong, Cannel and Wearmouth.

SOUTH CHINA TOO GOOD FOR KOWLOON AND WIN BY 4 TO 2

The Chinese players were inclined to take things easily after the interval when Lai Shui-wing had sent them further ahead. Two quick Kowloon goals by G. White and Elliot made them change their minds, however, and play brightened considerably. Both sets of forwards strove strenuously for another goal, but it was not until late in the game that Lai Shui-wing netted, once more to make the match certain for South China.

South China: B. Wong, Wa-kui, Chang Chi-ying, Lee Kam, Yau Wah-hing, Lim Tak-po, Yeung Chi-chung, Yeung Si-yick, Lai Shui-wing, Tang King-ki, Cheuk Shek-lam, and Lee Shek-yau.

Kowloon: Cord, Everett, Eastman, Gilchrist, Bliss, Whitehead, Lee, Elliot, G. White, V. White and T. Knox.

Second Division

GUNNERS RETAIN 100 PER CENT.

Too Good For Club Who Lack Forwards

MORTON IMPRESSES

The Artillery second string retained their 100 per cent. record at the Club's expense yesterday at Valley, when they won 4 goals to 1. The Gunners' forward line was weak, but Birmingham and Butterfield were opportunists and netted the goals.

Farrow, played a good game at centre-half, but could not hold Birmingham who did all the damage. The Club had a good pair of backs in Nicholls and Sloane. Both cleared well and did not get flustered in the succession of attacks launched on them by the Artillery.

The Gunners' half-back line was very good, Morton playing an excellent game in the pivotal position—the R. A. selection committee need look no further than Morton when the time comes to relieve Pardoe in the first eleven.

Price played a steady and reliable game at right back and helped McKrill considerably by keeping Fisher, the most aggressive man in the Club's forward line, out.

Apart from Fisher the Club's forward line was not too brilliant, though Duncan played a fine game and should have scored more than the solitary goal credited to him.

Artillery Open Scoring
Five minutes from half-time Butterfield lifted the ball out of a melee in front of goal to lodge the Gunners' first goal. Just on the interval, Leach received the ball from a corner and had little difficulty in guiding it past Payne to place the R. A. two goals in the lead.

The Club tried very hard from the opening of the second half and Duncan opened their account when he lobbed the ball over the heads of the defence and into the net. Five minutes later the Artillery retaliated through Butterfield, who did justice to a fine pass from Birmingham to give the R. A. their third goal. The last goal of the match came some seven minutes from the close when Harman sent a fine pass across the goalmouth for Birmingham to convert.

R. A.: McKrill, Price, Mason, Hall, Norton, Worthington, Rivers, Birmingham, Butterfield, Leach and Harman.

Club: Payne, Nichols, Sloane, McKellar, Farrow, Blinnie, Williams, Fisher, G. Duncan, Carr and Himmworth.

GOALKEEPER HURT AND NAVY WIN

Borderers Unlucky

A keen and even game was witnessed at Caroline Hill yesterday between the Royal Navy and the Borderers, the former winning by 4 goals to 2.

For most of the second half the Borderers were deprived of the services of Williams, their goalkeeper, who retired with a nasty injury to the head. Rees the right back filled his place.

In the first half there was little to choose between either team, but after the interval, the Borderers with only 10 men, were unable to hold their opponents.

All the Navy forwards combined well. Glass and O'Donnell, being most outstanding. In their defence, Forrest and Solomon were very sound.

The Borderers played clever football, McGeorge and Solis being their prominent forwards.

The Navy took the lead early through O'Donnell, but McGeorge equalised during a scrimmage in front of goal.

Glass placed the Navy in the lead, but the Borderers again drew level when Simmonds, who was unmarked and standing near the goal, received a long pass and crashed the ball into the net.

The Navy however were not to be denied their victory and forged ahead through a goal scored by O'Donnell. Shortly before time, Ives failed to hold a hot shot from Glass, the ball dropping out of his hands into the net to make the score 4 goals to 2.

Navy: McSweeney, Forrest, Solomon, Mathias, Richards, McClurg, White, Mills, Glass, O'Donnell and Hinder.

Borderers: Williams, Rees, Martin, Whelan, Ives, Thomas, Addison, Thomson, Simmonds, McGeorge and Solis.

LINCOLNS ROUT KOWLOON

Winch Impresses Among Losing Forwards

The Lincolns beat Kowloon by 5 goals to 2. McGuinness, with his first-time efforts, and Selters, by the clever use of his head, were outstanding for the Lincolns.

Among the Kowloon forwards only Winch impressed, and Pope in the pivotal position put in some strenuous work in defence.

McGuinness gave the Lincolns the lead in the first few minutes. After the interval Winch equalised for Kowloon, but Selters scored two goals in rapid succession and McGuinness added another two goals for the soldiers.

Lincolns: Taylor, Berriman, Colclough, Thompson, Wildy, Potters, Matthews, Evans, Selters, McGuinness and Toynette.

Kowloon: Boyes, Cutter, Hickman, Fuxman, Pope, Tillery, Pereira, Macdonald, Winch, Duffield and P. White.

Third Division

RADIO UNLUCKY TO LOSE BOTH POINTS

Sandford Outstanding

A keen tussle was witnessed at Chatham Road yesterday between the East Lanes and the Radio, the former emerging victors by the narrow margin of 2 goals to 1.

The teams were evenly matched and the Radio were unlucky to lose both points.

Sandford was most outstanding for the winners, and improved his position as head of the third league goal-scoring by registering two worthy goals. After being two goals down the Radio fought hard back and R. Aycock reduced the lead with a clever goal.

RAILWAY ROUTED BY LINCOLNS

After Scoring First

The Railway Recreation Club received a severe setback after they recently improved form when they were overwhelmed by the Lincolns by 5 goals to 1.

The Railway surprised their opponents by scoring the opening goal and it was not until after the interval that the superior play of the Lincolns began to take effect.

At half time the score was 2-1 in favour of the Lincolns, U. Ki Fit registering for the Railway, and Rush scoring both the military goals. The Railway fell away completely after the interval and the Lincolns scored three more goals through Cousins, Day, and Moody.

Borderers JUST GET HOME

Recreio's Plucky Display

The Borderers, after being two goals down for the greater part of the game, ran out winners by the odd goal in five at King's Park.

Campos and F. Santos scored for the Recreio during the first and second half, respectively, while Chapman, Johns and Purcell replied for the soldiers.

The Recreio were slightly unlucky to lose, as they enjoyed most of the exchanges throughout, except for a period in the second half when the Borderers stormed their area, to net their goals.

C. Santos worked hard and proved the mainstay of the forward line. The defence played well. H. Romeillos and Quinn, in goal, being very safe and sure.

Court was outstanding for the Borderers, his tackling, passing and general coolness being a feature of the game. Of the forwards, Johns (outside-right) impressed, being very fast, and possessing a good shot. Chapman and Purcell worked hard, but were well watched. Watkins appeared the safer of the backs, while Watts saved well on the occasions he was tested.

MEDICALS BEAT ORDNANCE

Draw Better Result

The Medicals met with an unexpected reverse when they were defeated by the R.A.O.C. at Happy Valley yesterday. The Ordnance win was a scrappy game by the odd goal in five.

The standard of football was never high, and a draw would have been a better result.

Crossing over with a goal lead, through Ikonis, the Medicals quickly went further ahead, when Wright

CLUB JUNIORS LOSE TO NAVY

An infringement for feet-up saw the Navy score through a penalty goal by Lt. Warren, and just before the end Warren went over wide of the posts for an unconverted try.

Lt. Miers refereed and lined up the following:
Club 2nd XV: R. Goldman; L. Cpl. Smith (S.W.D.); D. A. Cunningham, Pte. Jones, D. Hilder, P. J. Gardner, Pte. Wallace; G. C. Moutrie (Capt.); R. G. Castleton, H. O. Bramble; W. G. G. Knowles; F. R. Burch; F. S. Ng'ol; W. W. Kern; F. J. McGugan and J. T. Edkins.

Royal Navy 2nd XV: Lt. Judd (Eagle); Lt. Davidson (Eagle); St. Jones (Suffolk); A. B. Gould (Whitehall) and A. B. Matthews (Suffolk); Lt. Pack Bessford (Bruce) and Lt. Wallace (Captain) (W.D. Swan); Lt. Whinnery (Suffolk); Mid. Stacey (Suffolk); Mid. Willis (Suffolk); A. B. Eastman (Adventure); A. B. Salway (Wren); Lt. A. C. Williams (Eagle); Mid. Poulson (Suffolk); and Pay. Sub. Lt. Baird (Suffolk).

(W) netted, but the Ordnance kept pegging away and never lost heart. Routledge reduced the deficit with a nice shot, and a few minutes before the end O'Brien equalised. Sustained pressure on the Medicals kept resulted in Routledge netting the winning goal shortly before time.

ENGINEERS GAIN FIRST POINTS

Police Well Beaten

The Royal Engineers obtained their first points of the season when they defeated the Police by three goals to nil.

It was a very scrappy game, neither side laying good football, the ball being wildly punted about the field.

Mecke passed wildly from the scrum on several occasions, and got rid of the ball much too soon. Of the three-quarters, Robertson and Hutchison were good, while Ferguson and McGilchrist were seen at their best.

Lammert played an excellent game in defence and demonstrated that he can still produce a burst of speed when called on.

Christian Smith at full back for the Navy was safe, and Frank and Marsh were the pick of the backs. Hoskins and Darley initiated many glorious movements, while Hinchcliffe, Sowden, Evans and Gardner were the pick of the Navy forwards.

Club Open Scoring
After 10 minutes the Club opened their account through Ferguson, who took a magnificent pass from Hutchison, and, after evading a forward and handing off two backs, grounded between the posts. Robertson added the major points.

A good movement among the forwards saw Bradford transfer to Peers, who, when nearly over in the left corner, was bundled into touch.

Ten minutes from the interval, Ferguson was tackled on the right touchline and badly strained a tendon in the right leg, necessitating his leaving the field. He came back after five minutes, but again left the field after being tackled. He did not return.

McLellan moved Munro from the pack to fill the vacancy, and, surprisingly enough, the Club managed to hold the Navy scrum.

Just before the interval a dangerous Navy forward movement was nipped in the bud when McLellan dropped on the ball just in time. He was kicked on the back of the head, and temporarily stunned for his pains.

The spectators were given a thrill when Lammert picked up in his own half and almost broke through, being grounded by Franks with nobody to pass to.

Soon after the Club went further ahead when Mecke took a pass from Peers to cross over in the corner. Robertson hit the upright with an excellent kick, but the ball glanced the wrong side.

Just before "no-side" the Navy scored their only try from a movement originating on the touchline in the middle of the field, a passing bout resulting in Howell Davies grounding wide of the post. The kick failed.

Major McIntyre, R.A., refereed and lined up the following:
Club: G. P. Lammert; J. J. Ferguson, L. G. Robertson, J. Hutchison and H. R. McGilchrist; M. W. Turner and H. C. Mecke; A. F. Walker, W. E. Peers, G. A. Stewart, E. H. Bradford, S. H. Garrod, Miller, D. McLellan (Captain) and K. A. Munro.

Royal Navy: Lt. Christian Smith (Suffolk); Pay. Lt. Howell Davies (Adventure); Lt. Franks (Wren); St. Marsh (Suffolk) and A. B. Hoskins (Eagle); Mid. Darley (Suffolk) and A. B. Hinchcliffe (Eagle); St. Keane (Suffolk); Lt. Colard (Adventure); A. B. Sowden (Whitehall); Mid. Spurway (Suffolk); Lt. Evans (Suffolk); Lt. Gardner (Eagle); Lt. Field (Oswald) and A. B. Johns (Eagle).

SOUTH KIANGSI CLEAN-UP

Communists Suffer Heavy Losses

Canton, Yesterday.

The Communist bandits who made a thrust into south Kiangsi with the object of seeking a safe passage into Hunan, Kwelchow, and Szechuen, met with great losses in battles with the Kwangtung troops in Anyuen, Shunfeng, and Chinglung in the past few days.

One group of the bandits has retreated to its lair in Huchang. The other group, which roved about on the border of Kiangsi and Hunan, has been hard pressed by Hunan troops.

The Kwangtung forces are now employed in searching for remnants. According to a military despatch from the front, the troops of the 4th Division killed many of the bandits in Wangkong on November 1.

In a region near Yi-on, another horde of remnants was dispersed by the troops of the 1st Division. In this encounter, over 600 bandits were killed, 300 captured, and two machine guns and more than 400 rifles seized. The troops were in hot pursuit of those who retreated towards Siptow.—Central Press.

Vast mining lands, described as the richest in the world, have been found in western Szechuen, according to a Chinese booklet promising untold wealth to investors. Sponsors of the scheme include ex-Ministers.

MOTORING NOTES

WORKMAN COMPILES DRIVER CHARGED BY STREET DIRECTORY

Edinburgh And Leith

An Edinburgh tram conductor has prepared a new Edinburgh street directory, according to "Motor Transport."

Its principal feature is a list of the streets in Edinburgh and Leith showing the postal districts in which they are situated, the route number of the trams or buses that serve the district, and the name of the street at which the passenger should alight.

Pastor Complimented By Bench

"If other people would do as this vicar has done it would be of enormous help to the police," said the Chairman of the Doncaster Bench in a case in which a clergyman was complimented for his assistance in bringing a charge against a lorry driver who was stated to have driven along the Great North Road at over 48 m.p.h. in a lorry limited to 20 m.p.h.

The vicar, who was allowed a guinea costs, followed the motor lorry along the Great North Road for several miles, and was unable to overtake it because of its great speed and size—"The Autocar."

INSECTS AND THE RADIATOR

Maintaining Efficiency Of Cooling System

After a fast run flies and moths will adhere to the radiator of the car, and not only impair the efficiency of the cooling system, but are unsightly. These insects may be removed by lightly tapping the radiator with a hard brush.

On no account should water be forced on to the radiator from a hose from the front of the car, as this not only forces the flies farther into the recesses, but may cause water to get into the dynamo, starter, or ignition distributor, with disastrous results. A spray jet of water forced through the radiator block from the "inside" of the bonnet will push the flies out the way they arrived, and also lessen the risk of danger to the electrical equipment.

HEAD LAMPS IN "SILENCE ZONES"

Pedestrians Confused By Dazzle

There has been opposition in certain quarters to the use of head lamps to take the place of motor car horns during the silence hours. It seems to be suggested that the employment of head lamps is likely to confuse pedestrians and dazzle other drivers.

With this point of view we cannot agree. If the lamps are not used for periods longer than those normally occupied by the sounding of a horn, the dazzle trouble will not be material, while the momentary appearance of a bright light on the road surface at cross-roads gives the necessary warning of one's approach.

"The Junk" (Exhibit No. 12) is by Watanabe, who, though a Japanese, has represented a Chinese junk as can only be seen by a native of China.

Exhibit No. 106, "A Japanese Lady" by Shima, is outstanding. This piece of art is priced at $18.

There are many views of lakes, the sea, flowers, mountains, and sunsets all of which are extremely artistic and beautifully executed. Many of these paintings, though priced as low as $3, are the works of well-known artists whose signatures can be found on their respective works.

The exhibition is open for 10 days only. Some of the exhibits may remain till the end of the month, but the best and most valued pieces are certain to be purchased considerably earlier.

The exhibition closes each day at six o'clock.

THE LADY FROM FLJI

palaver, sometime Greek, sometime English, sometime I no savvy be-long what. Cap'n blow through nose all the same ole pig."

"Why the scoundrel just swindled you," Mr. Pycraft interrupted warmly. "Why didn't you prosecute?"

"I plug him with galley pan-fry," said Black Nellie. "That make him feel plenty sick. Then I go quick ashore, I run out from dock gates. Police fellas looksee my picture Cap'n Nelson. They speak what way Trafalgar-square. But no fella savvy Ollie, no fella savvy where hang out Ollie's ole Pop. So I have to stop along this place. Bye and bye Ollie will come."

An uncomfortable silence followed her last words. In over increasing numbers homing office workers scuttled diagonally across the asphalt square. Unexpectedly there came a lull in the roar of passing traffic, through which echoed the cries of the newsboys, remote, melancholy, almost despairing. High

BIDDING "NON-FITTERS"

(By LADY RHODES)

ONLY too frequently two partners at contract hold hands of this type known as non-fitters. These hands are always a source of anxiety even to expert bidders, and though, unfortunately, we cannot avoid holding them, we can at least try to avoid incurring an unnecessary loss with them.

Here are three examples:—

No. 1. North, the dealer, bids 1 Spade on:

S—A K 9 4 D—J 5

H—K Q 8 C—Q 9 8 2

South answers with 2 Diamonds and North bids of No Trumps.

So far, so good. South may have bid 2 Diamonds on an excellent hand, not quite strong enough for a forcing bid. South, however, then bids 3 Diamonds; North rebids to 3 No Trumps and goes down several tricks.

North is, of course, at fault. What is at the back of her mind is that her partner may hold something like five diamonds to the A.K.Q. or five or six to the K.Q. with a re-entry card.

What she fails to appreciate is the fact that if her partner does hold such a hand she herself should raise the 2 No Trumps to 3. In this actual case South held K, Q, 10, and the 3 No Trump was, of course, handsomely defeated. Played in 3 Diamonds, the contract could have been made with 5 tricks in trumps, 2 in Spades, and 2 in Hearts, as West held the ace of the suit. Even if the ace had been with East the loss would have been only one trick.

No. 2. North opens with 1 Spade. South, holding:

S—10 6 D—K Q 9 4

H—6 2 C—K 9 8 7 2

answers with 2 Clubs. North then says 2 Hearts and South justifiably bids 2 No Trumps. North then bids 3 Hearts. South should not say 3 No Trumps, but should give her partner the preference bid of 3 Spades. North is marked with a 2 sult, and, as she bid the Spades first and was able to rebid the Hearts, she must have, at least, 8 on opposite buildings the first electric signs began their ghostly capers eager for the coming of night. Mr. Pycraft sighed.

"You must be very fond of Big Ollie to go through all that for him," he said, gently. "Such love is all too rare."

"Love him? . . . Hell," retorted Black Nellie coldly, restoring the battered postcard to her bag. "He owe me five dollars laundry."

(The End.)

58,607 DIFFERENT STAMPS

Two New Ones From The Saar

More than 1,700 new postage stamps have been issued in the past twelve months, Europe providing 642, Asia 357, Africa 892, America 333, West Indies 47, and Oceania 62.

Those stamp collectors who aim for quantity rather than specialisation have now a goal of 58,607 distinct varieties to strive for, that being the total in the thirty-fourth edition of Whitfield King's (of Ipswich) Standard Catalogue just issued.

Germany has issued two new stamps in connection with the Saar plebiscite—six and twelve pfennig.

of each of the major suits. She almost certainly has nothing in the other two, or she would either have made a forcing rebid or gone to 3 No Trumps.

Awarded To Play

In that declaration the hand is going to be very awkward to play, and South should resign herself to the fact that she and her partner have hands that do not fit.

No. 3. Finally there is a type of rescue bid that is made out of sheer panic. These rescues on inadequate hands almost always prove to be the case of "out of the frying pan into the fire." Sometimes the unfortunate partner who is rescued is not even in the frying pan.

Here is a very sad example that I saw recently. The score was North and South, love; and East and West, 60 in the first game. North dealt and Second round—bid 1 Diamond North 3 Diamonds. South 2 Hearts. East 3 Hearts. South Double.

West No Bid.

West, holding:

S—Q 8 7 5 4 3 D—J 9 4

H— C—K J 7 4

"rescued" with 3 Spades, which North doubled, securing a heavy penalty, as her partner had both bid 2 No Trumps and doubled the Heart rebid. West lost 3 tricks in Spades, 3 in Diamonds and one in Clubs and was thus three down on her contract. If her partner had left the 3 Hearts she would have made it, losing only the four aces.

Saved The Game

Admittedly this penalty of 450 points at least saved the game, as North and South could have made game in Diamonds or No Trumps. In practice, however, if West had not injudiciously interfered, the 3 Hearts double would quite probably have been left in, and East and West, instead of paying 450 to save a game, would have made one.

The other three hands were:—

MANY FAVOURABLE FACTORS

Chartists Encouraged On Wall Street

RAIL SHARES FIRM

SPECIAL TO SUNDAY HERALD.

Yesterday's firmness of rail shares, despite the more than seasonal car loadings decline, has encouraged chart compilers.

Favourable market factors to-day were President Roosevelt's extension of the Automobile Code until February 1, the planning of an investigation into employment stabilization, that the London agreement on the rubber export plan is expected to stimulate prices, and that the September iron and steel exports were 301,350 tons as against 108,799 last year.

An unfavourable factor was that the Socony-Vacuum corporation has reduced the gasoline price in New York by half a cent—United Press per S. E. Levy and Co.

RISE IN RUBBER NULLIFIED

Quota Cut Disappoints Market Bulls

COMPROMISE MEASURE

London, Yesterday.
Yesterday's rise in rubber was wiped out to-day on bulls liquidating owing to disappointment at the extent of the cut for the first quarter of 1935. At the same time, speculators are uncertain which way to turn.

The market is fairly unanimous that the decision of the Regulation Committee represents a compromise between the British, Dutch and manufacturers viewpoints. It is pointed that the rate of export release for the next quarter is equivalent, approximately, to 81 per cent. of the present quotas owing to the increase of next year's basic quotas.

Undoubtedly the decision will give the Dutch a further chance to deal with the question of native exports, the solution of which is vital for the success of the entire scheme, but some misgiving is expressed as it is very doubtful whether consumption can increase proportionately with production.—Reuter.

C.N.A.C. PLANE ON RETURN TRIP TO SHANGHAI TO-DAY

High military and civilian officials were given trial flights in the twin-motored plane this afternoon. Several flights were made, and many of the officials were delighted at seeing their city from the air for the first time. The machine will carry the name passengers to Shanghai to-morrow morning. Hereafter the air mail service between Canton and Shanghai via ports will be once a week. An additional plane will be placed on the service next month, when the old service will be resumed. No passenger service will be available until probably after, next month.
